THE GARFIELD FORGERY.

A Truth Editor Tried for the Crime.

Court Evidence--Comments of the Press.

Improving Prospects of Republican Victory.

Rev. C. R. Bliss on New West Education.

Interesting Summary of General News.

COLORADO.

Grand Republican Parade.

DENVER, October 27 —The republican demonstration to night was of magnificent proportions, being eight blocks in length. The line of march was well illuminated and the pyro technical display was grand. The streets along the line of march were lined with spectators, and immense crowds gathered at the government square, where speeches were de livered from the grand stand. The whole affair was the most brilliant and the grandest political parade ever witnessed in Denver.

GENERAL NEWS.

That Forged Letter.

CHICAGO, October 27. New York specials state that two men have been run down who are connected with the Garfield forgery. There seems to be some jealousy between the republican committee and the detectives, as to who shall have the credit, and this is working to the advantage of the culprits, who are gaining time.

The Tribune's Boston special says the Lynn Item gives the following as discrediting the already four times exploded Chinese letter. The letter was never received at the Lynn office, for the envelopes at that place are stamped there, and this envelope was not stamped on the back as it must have been had it been delivered. Furthermore it is the custom of the Lynn postoffice to stamp all letters that go into the general delivery, with the information that if the full address is furnished to the postmaster all mail to that address will be delivered by carrier free of charge. The carriers say they never delivered any letters to the address of H. L. Morey and there is no street and number in the fac simile shown. The letter, if received at all, went into the general delivery. The Tribune, editorially reviewing Garfield's letter of acceptance on the Chinese question and noting that Hancock wrote nothing whatever on that point of prime importance to the Pacific Coast, says, in spite this record democrat managers have had the bare faced impudence to publish a forged letter putting into Garfield's mouth words which are flatly contradicted by his letter of acceptance and by his speeches and votes in congress. The infamy of this forgery is all the more conspicuous because of the notorious silence of Hancock on this subject.

ARREST OF PHILLIPS FOR THE FORGERY.

NEW YORK, October 27. Kenward Phillips, an editorial writer on The Truth, was arrested to-day in Brooklyn on a charge of forgery in connection with the so called Garfield Chinese letter. He will be arraigned in the supreme court this afternoon. His counsel has already applied for his discharge on habeas corpus.

BROOKLYN, October 27.—The arrest of Kenward Phillips was made on a charge of counterfeiting the postoffice dies upon a warrant granted in the federal court.

Phillips was arrested in the lobby of the Park theatre in Brooklyn while in conversation with ex Sheriff Daggett, a republican leader in Brooklyn, and another gentleman.

NEW YORK, October 27.—It is now stated that Phillips was arrested for malicious libel and not for publishing the alleged forged letters.

The arrest was made upon a warrant issued by Judge Noah Davis, presiding justice of the supreme court. The affidavit charges Phillips with maliciously composing and publishing the alleged forged letter. Phillips and the officer, accompanied by Wm. Vieder, a lawyer, came over to police headquarters, this city. After a brief detention Phillips was taken to the supreme court Judge Davis being temporarily absent he was detained in the district attorney's office. He will be arraigned before Judge Davis later in the day.

AFFIDAVITS BEFORE THE COURT.

NEW YORK, October 27.—Before Justice Davis the affidavit of George Bliss set forth that a publication had been made in a paper called Truth of an alleged letter of General Garfield to Morey, also of an editorial headed "Lying and Sticking to It" in which Garfield was repeatedly called a liar. Bliss swore that he is acquainted with Garfield's writing and that he believes the Morey letter was written and forged by Kenward Philips. Bell says I hold in my hands the original manuscript referred to headed "Lying and Sticking to It." The affidavit of Bliss went to say that he believed that the publisher and manager of Truth arranged with the democrat national committee to circulate a large number of copies of the forged letter Mr Bell then said he had the affidavits of gentlemen who were acknowleged to be experts in handwriting He read the affidavits of J. E. Payne and A. F. Southworth setting forth that the Morey letter was not in their belief written by Garfield and that that letter was written by Philips who wrote the editorial article referred to. They had also in framing their opinion seen his handwriting on bills and other papers.

A motion was then made to have the warrant dismissed on the ground that the affidavits were not strong enough to support it. The motion was denied by Judge Davis who held that the publication of the article after its authenticity was denied which tended to bring the odium on the supposed author was criminal libel The examination was adjourned till 11 o'clock tomorrow morning Phillips furnished $5,000 bail to appear General Pryor, counsel for Phillips, demanded a speedy trial. As the crowd was leaving the court room three cheers for Hancock were called for and given. The person who started the cry could not be caught though Judge Davis ordered his arrest.

TESTIMONY OF EXPERTS.

NEW YORK, October 27 —At the examination of Kenward Phillips to day on a charge of having forged the Garfield letter, Joseph E Paine, an expert of hand writing for 30 years, Albert F Southworth, an expert for 20 years and Daniel T Ames, an expert for two years all testified that after a careful examination in their belief the letter was unquestionably a forgery and that a letter signed by Phillips which was submitted to them was probably written by the same man who wrote the forgery

PRESS COMMENTS ON THE FORGERY.

CHICAGO, October 27.—The republican state committee publishes a circular which will be spread thoroughly among the workingmen of the state denouncing the Truth's forged letter as a weekly wicked device of the democratic national committee and calling on all republicans to redouble their efforts to make secured a victory so crushing that such disreputable means of blackening character will hereafter be given over. They incorporate in their circular and call attention to it as showing that the democratic press are disgusted with such methods the New York Sun's editorial of the subject which was telegraphed the San Francisco Call this morning and also quote the following from the Chicago Times: The alleged Garfield letter and alleged Weaver letter are both proven to be absolute forgeries by evidence which would convict any forger before any jury in christendom. Both were forgeries committed by graceless scoundrels whom no respectable business man would suffer to enter the door of his counting house or trust with his check book out of his sight for party managers on whose behalf these forgeries were committed and through whom the forgers expect to be rewarded. It is perfectly well known that they are forgeries for the proof of it is of such a conclusive character as to exclude from every rational mind all possible ground of doubt, and yet notwithstanding the conclusive proof that the document is a forgery, dispatches tell us that the party managers on whose account the crime was committed are sending out thousands of copies of that forgery as an argument to voters against a man who never wrote nor expressed nor entertained the stupid and brutal sentiments to which it gives words.

Rev. C. R. Bliss on the New West.

NEW YORK, October 27 Rev. C. R. Bliss, of Santa Fe, had a reception and supper yesterday from the Congregational ministers, and gave at some length an account of the work done in Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Dakota, under the organization known as the New West Educational Mission. The professor said the work was being satisfactorily prosecuted as well as the funds at their command would enable them, and the best of results were already manifest Schools were in operation in Leadville and Trinidad, Col., in Las Vegas and Santa Fe, N M, Salt Lake, Utah, Spearfish, D. T., and other places. These were all comparatively free schools. The price charged for tuition was not more than $1 50 monthly. The intense ignorance of the people of New Mexico, dominion of the Spanish priesthood over them, and the great need of schools and teachers to educate the children, were graphically described. The professor spoke in relation to the schools in Salt Lake City and what power for good they would prove in the future.

Grant's Predictions

CHICAGO, October 27.—The Tribune's Syracuse special says, General Grant, in an interview said- "My observation in Connecticut leads me to think we shall carry the state by ten thousand. The tariff is making a clean sweep of the whole country. It will affect Pennsylvania notably. I think the majority in New York is being underestimated, but I see no reason to believe that it will be less than forty thousand. A few days ago I had a conversation with a gentleman in New York whom I know pretty well. He was guarding me against harvesting as high estimate as I placed on it. I simply said to him, 'Here, you smoke, and I smoke. I will do this. If New York declares republican by 40,000 majority, you send me, knowing my address, 1,000 cigars. If New York does not go republican by 40,000 I'll send you 1,000 cigars' It wasn't a bet, you understand, it was a present either way as the case might be, but," and the general gave a slight laugh as he flipped the ashes from his burning cigar and looked towards the window and the fleeting scenery, "I guess he thought he would let me pay for my own smoking"

GRANT AT ROCHESTER.

ROCHESTER, October 27 —Fifty thousand people were out to-day to see General Grant. After reviewing the procession of Boys in Blue, General Grant presided at a mass meeting in a tent where 15,000 people had gathered. He attempted to speak but was interrupted by the throng pressing forward to catch sight of him and by the consequent great confusion He finally got a hearing and referred to the great enthusiasm everywhere manifested over the campaign. It proved to him not only that the people understood the issue, but that they were resolved not to relegate them to the southern generals who sought to destroy this government They were resolved to have a fair count and an honest ballot, that tariff is not a local issue but one of interest alike to the farmer, the laborer and the manufacturer.

Senator Conkling spoke two hours, being introduced as a man who could give 329 reasons why the republican party should be successful next Tuesday. General Grant again spoke as follows: Ladies and gentlemen, you have heard as a plank of the democratic platform laid down here just now that it was the work of the democratic party to fill the gap between the aristocratic and laboring classes in the United States of America and you have been rightly told that we have no aristocracy. That gap was closed fifteen years ago when slavery went out of existence in America The only aristocracy that ever existed in this country was of the democratic party and it had its life in the ownership of human beings. I now introduce to you Colonel Pitkin, of Louisiana, who knows what that aristocracy was and will tell you of the disasters which it wrought in the south. (Applause, loud and long).

Strong Political Workers.

CHICAGO, October 27.—The Times correspondent at New York points out this morning that while the democrats have no stronger man engaged in making their canvass than Horatio Seymour, and nobody worth mentioning besides him, the republicans have Grant, Conkling, Beecher, Ingersoll, Harrison, Storrs, Sherman, and Douglass hard at work on the platform through the state and in the metropolis.

There are signs that the opposition in Maine is all torn up by reason of the incongruity of the elements joined in the fusion. Albert Colby, a prominent democrat of Fryburg, has published a proclamation in which he declares that he will vote for Garfield rather than fuse with the greenbackers.

Ohio's October Election.

COLUMBUS, October 27.—The secretary of state furnishes the following official returns of the October election: For secretary of state, Townsend, 362,021; Lang, 343,016, Lord, greenback, 6,786; Doane, prohibition, 2,815. Townsend's majority over Lang, 19,005. For supreme judge, McIlvane, 364,045; Follett, 3 0 998; Landen, 6 859; Rose, 2.858; McIlvane's majority, 23,047. The highest majority was on clerk of supreme court, Crowell having 23,355. The total vote was 716,233. Congressmen were elected as already reported, making a gain of six for the republicans.

Hancock Quiet and Gloomy.

CHICAGO, October 27.—A dispatch from New York says a visitor from Governor's Island reports Hancock quiet and gloomy. He has abandoned all hope of election and is sorry he ever entered the fight. He is especially distressed by cartoons and newspaper attacks.

Taft Speech in South Carolina.

CHICAGO, October 27 The Inter Ocean's Washington special contains extracts from the letter of Senator Taft of South Carolina, in which is detailed the manner in which the red shirts broke up a republican meeting at Winnsboro He was met at the train by a large party of these drunken wretches who insisted on escorting him to the grove where the meeting was to be held and where he was to speak. Declining their proffered aid he started with a few republicans to walk thither but was set upon, hustled, cursed and threatened so that his life was barely saved by the intervention of a few less violent and more conservative democrats. The latter made the excuse that the men were drunk. Taft says this sort of thing is continually happening in South Carolina and even the democratic News and Courier, of Charleston, is compelled to denounce it of late declaring the action of the red shirts indefensible although at the same time excusing it.

Charles Francis Adams for Garfield.

NEW YORK, October 27 —Charles Francis Adams, Jr, who supported Tilden four years ago, addresses the independent republicans here to-morrow night to give his reasons for supporting Garfield now. He holds that while he thought Tilden was elected the asserted fraud of '76 is not now a living issue. Besides he says later developments show that fraud is not all on one side and the democratic party is in position of the man who complains of having his pocket picked while himself cheating at cards Therefore he thinks the democracy were wise in dropping the fraud candidate Federal interference in southern democratic affairs is over and specie payments have been re-established, the living issues of to-day are questions of administration, and the republican party and candidates are pledged to continue the wise administration of Hayes which will bear comparison with the best and purest preceding administration Garfield and the republican party have at least four years record of honor and success, but their opponents offer no record as a basis for popular confidence Their record is opposition and obstruction to resumption and sound finance Their twenty years of opposition have made no mark justifying a change for their restoration to power now

Even the free trader Adams is against the democracy on its plank of tariff for revenue only. Its candidate evidently don't even know what tariff is. No future for free trade is to be won out of pure unadulterated ignorance of the subject Better fight the battle with real enemies than put faith in those who chuck out great principles to voters as gamblers might toss pennies to tramps. Nor can Adams understand why at this day of civil administration a mere soldier should be made chief executive of his great nation. If Hancock's expressions upon the tariff are to be accepted as a fair sample of his knowledge of fiscal and currency topics he would unquestionably furnish a good subject for admission to a commercial college but his inaugural might contain some singular economical discoveries. Above all Adams urges the importance of such a vote for Garfield as will render impossible the dangers to national peace and prosperity which must come from any indecisive result. With the solid south for Hancock he urges that a divided north will mean national peril of the most fearful character.

Jeff Says He Didn't Say It.

LOUISVILLE, October 27.—A friend of Jeff Davis writes to the editor of the Courier-Journal denying that he ever uttered the sentiments full of disloyalty and vindictiveness such as were recently attributed to him by a writer to a paper in Maine and somewhat widely republished.

Clearing House Transactions.

NEW YORK, October 27 —The Public's table of clearing house transactions to be published to-morrow shows the following gain and losses for the week over a corresponding period last year:—

	Gains.
New York	17 3
Chicago	19 6
Baltimore	1 2
Cincinnati	16 5
St. Louis	13 6
New Orleans	18 6
Pittsburgh	51 2
Louisville	4 2
Providence	3 0
Kansas City	20.8
Cleveland	5 0
Indianapolis	2 8
New Haven	29 5
Lowell	31 6
Syracuse	15 7
	Losses
Philadelphia	17 0
Boston	7
San Francisco	26 7
Milwaukee	22.7

The volume of business this week foots up 1,135,000,000 against 1,401,500,000 for the same time last year. Were it not for the gigantic speculations last year, New York's increase this year would be 45 per cent. Probably some very large transactions in stocks during the week before last were of such a character as not to appear in the exchange until this, so the operations reported last week were deceptive in the amount of decrease shown, and those of this week in the amount of increase shown. It must be expected that on account of the disturbing influence of the political contest the reports will not be of as much significance as usual until the presidential question is settled

Forged Bonds.

WASHINGTON, October 27 —A number of the one thousand dollar coupon bonds found in possession of I. B. Doyle when arrested in Chicago have been examined by officers of the secret service and by experts in the loan division of the treasury department who pronounce them remarkably good counterfeits. No one but an expert they say would be likely to detect their spurious character. Smith who engraved the plate, it appears, said originally there were thirty coupons on the bonds. When taken from Doyle there was but one coupon attached. The others had been cut off in a jagged way to look as if they had been clipped one at a time. There are in several places wider spaces of white near the margin in the counterfeit than in the genuine. The seal with Washington written through the center is but feebly brought out in the counterfeit. In the loan division they detected the counterfeit in the initials D. L. P. J. O. D L. P. entered on the bonds in the loan office and J O. P entered on them in the register's office. The signatures are stiff in the counterfeit, not being written in the easy hand of the genuine. The numbers of the bonds are a little larger in the counterfeit than in the genuine signatures. Doyle will have examination to-morrow in Chicago. Beckway will also be examined to morrow in Brooklyn. The twenty seven one hundred dollar notes found in Doyle's valise were also found by the secret service on examination not to be genuine and sent back to Chicago Chief Brooks has gone to Chicago to further look into Doyle's doings.

City Authority against National.

CHICAGO, October 27.—A contest between the United States and city authorities seems inevitable. The supervisors of election who have been at the registering places have received little aid and sometimes direct opposition from the police. To day one of them called on a policeman to arrest a man named Duke who was getting a registration who acknowledged he had not been thirty days in the ward, and he refused his aid and the policeman interfered when the supervisor himself attempted to make the arrest and took the supervisor whose name is Fred Geister to the police station A police justice fined him two dollars and as Geister refused to pay it he was committed to the bridewell. Judge Drummond of the United States court being apprised of this at once issued a writ of habeas corpus returnable forthwith and Geister was brought back from the bridewell It is stated several persons will be arrested to morrow for interfering with United States officers and for contempt of a United States court.

Unprecedented Eastern Drought.

NEW YORK, October 27 —The moderate rains of the past day or two have brought but partial relief to industries dependent on water power. The drying up of the streams in the Atlantic states may be said to extend from the Androscoggin down to the James and even some of the great rivers like the Delaware are fordable at points where such a thing has not been known for many years. The drought, however, is felt more seriously to the eastward and its effects are beginning to be felt in commercial as well as manufacturing circles The Boston Journal of yesterday says the scarcity of water is having a bad effect upon nearly all kinds of merchandise restricting the demand, especially for raw material The cotton, woolen and paper mills are all running on short time in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. Not a few important industries have been brought to a dead halt by the stoppage of the mills. The Passaic and Raritan are unprecedentedly low, the Brandywine is quite dry and at Wilmington and other places in that part of the country several establishments have been compelled to shut down

"Mile. Ma Mere" Bernhardt.

NEW YORK, October 27 —Sara Bernhardt was given a formal welcome to this country by the president of the Circle Artistique, who with a number of gentlemen went down the bay to-day and met the steamer Many persons were on the wharf anxious to see the famous artist and in front of the hotel where Bernhardt is lodged a group of people stand and stare at the windows

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Direct negotiations will begin on Thursday between Riza Pasha and Montenegro.

Nine hundred ladies visited General Garfield yesterday and he made them a neat and fitting speech.

The secretary of the treasury purchased $2,500,000 U. S bonds for the sinking fund yesterday.

The greenbackers of the Nineteenth district of Massachusetts have nominated Wendell Phillips for congress.

The most recent official intelligence possessed by the English government leaves no doubt that the district around Cabul is in a state of disturbance.

The steamer Flynlan arrived at Boston yesterday from Liverpool, with the officers and crew of the ship Isaac Webb, abandoned at sea in a sinking condition.

A special to the St. Paul Pioneer Press says Robert Lowe of West Albany, Wabash county, that state, shot and instantly killed his wife and infant child and afterwards blew his own brains out. Domestic trouble was the cause of the tragedy.

At a meeting of the borough magistrates of Limerick it was decided that one hundred additional police be drafted for service in the town on the occasion of Parnell's reception and it was also decided that all liquor shops should be closed that day.

Bishop Simpson who has been on an extended trip in the west says the lands, the railroads the steamships and the capital of California are all in a very few hands, that the masses of the people are poor and that it possesses fewer homes for workingmen than perhaps any other part of the country.

By the vote which follows the house deputies of the Episcopal convention in New York adopted the report excluding extempore prayers from the service: Clergy ayes 26, noes 12 Eight dioceses divided lay ayes 11, noes 25 The majority report was then adopted and the subject will now be passed to the diocesan convention for ratification.

Colorado Springs has one voter to every four inhabitants.

There is no good reason for any republican scratching his ticket this fall. Vote the straight and regular ticket.

Kenward Phillips, the reputed author of the Morey-Garfield letter, is a writer of fiction of the dime novel order.

The News will probably suppress the additional proof we publish this morning, showing the Morey letter is a forgery.

We did the Capital City an injustice yesterday. It will publish no attack on a candidate unless there is time to answer.

Garfield's district gave 12,726 majority for the republican ticket or a gain of 1,606. This is the answer given to his slanderers.

The evidences of fraudulent registration in Denver on the part of the democrats make it all the more important that El Paso should poll its full republican vote.

It is reported that there will be imitations of the republican ticket spread through the country with changes of one or two names. Be careful that you take your ballot from some good well known republican.

A few men of intelligence and ability like Adams, Bigelow, and others supported Tilden in 1876 in the interest of reform. It will be noticed in our telegraph that C. F. Adams, jr., has come out for Garfield It is only another proof that the intelligence and conscience of the country are arrayed on the side of Garfield.

Regarding the Morey-Garfield forgery, the Boston Globe (democratic) prints the following frank statement showing the letter is a forgery. "An interview last evening with several leading manufacturers of Lynn disclosed the fact that no employers' union has existed there since the big strike of the winter of 1877-78. When it was found that workmen must be secured outside of the city to take the place of the strikers, or production be stopped entirely, about thirty shoe manufacturers formed a sort of combination, and sent agents through New Hampshire and Vermont to secure workmen. The organization died out with the return of the strikers to the shops. According to the statements of those who were at its head, however, no man named Morey ever had any connection with it, nor does any one of that name seem to have lived at Lynn within two years, if ever. The fact that there was no such union at Lynn last January, and that traces could not be found of H. C. Morey, was communicated to Chairman W. H Barnum, of the national committee."

The News still prints the forged Chinese letter said to have been written by Garfield. It has been clearly shown to be a forgery for the following reasons:—

First, The handwriting is unlike Garfield's.

Second, The letter is badly spelled. Companies is spelled companys; an almost impossible mistake for a scholar and an old school teacher.

Third, The postmark is dated January 23. On April 13 all the cancelling stamps in Washington were changed. The letter has been marked with the new stamps which were not in use until three months after the letter was written.

Fourth, Garfield's letter of acceptance contains sentiments utterly different from those expressed in the Morey letter.

All these points are amply substantiated and are conclusive proof that the letter is a forgery. No respectable paper ought to take further notice of it except to condemn it.

DENVER'S LARGE REGISTRATION.

Denver's registration this year is 17,035. This seems to be out of all proportion to a city of 38,607 inhabitants. The Tribune charges that there is a great fraud and thinks the voting population is not over 8,000. This would be one vote to every four and a half persons or rather a small ratio for a new country. Ohio cast one vote two weeks ago to every 3 29 inhabitants. The census of Denver showed a population of 38,607, of which 13,079 were females. The census also gave the voting population at 16,100. It will thus be seen that the registration is not necessarily very fraudulent. There is no doubt that the democrats secured the registration of a good many fraudulent voters Tuesday, but the number will be less than 2,000.

But with an efficient state and county there is no fear that the democracy can vote these repeaters. Sufficient warning has been given. Now only brains, energy and industry are needed to prevent the consummation of the fraud. If the committees do their duty, the result in the state cannot be much affected by this immense registration.

Sound Principle.

It is a matter for congratulation that a movement is on foot in the republican party to base the representation of states in national conventions upon the vote cast for president at the last preceding election. This is the only fair method of apportioning the delegates. There is no reason why a large state with a small republican vote like Missouri, for instance, should have more to say in convention than a small state with a large republican vote like Kansas. The idea smacks too much of the democratic heresy of state sovereignty. Leadville Herald.

Tribune on Denver Registration.

Registration for revenue only.

Somebody seems to have watered the registration stock.

Denver is the only place in the world that boasts one voter to every two residents.

In 1878 the vote of Denver, as shown by the returns for governor, was 3,583. In 1879 the vote for sheriff was 3,517. Now we register 17,035 votes—an increase in voting population in a year of about 500 per cent.

The law provides for supervisors of elections. We need such officials sorely in Denver. If it is not too late they should be forthwith appointed.

Riverside was deserted yesterday. The residents of that quarter of the city turned out en masse to register Every grave represents five democratic votes.

Ex Sheriff Wallace, of Cincinnati, one of the recent democratic porkopolitan managers, happens to be in Denver to witness the western improvement upon his own registration methods He is in jail.

Garfield the Fit Successor of Hayes.

Fair students of politics pronounce this the most satisfactory administration in our history. Rutherford B. Hayes has indeed proved that he serves his party best who serves his country best . . . James A. Garfield has many of Governor Hayes' qualities. His public record covers a great chapter in American history, and his share is essentially patriotic When his party ran mad for the impeachment of President Johnson, Congressman Garfield wrote:

"I have examined the testimony and the reports of the judiciary committee in reference to the impeachment, and have been compelled to conclude that they have not made out a case. I shall therefore vote against the measure. It may and probably will cost me my political life. I see all this, and after having studied the question of impeachment carefully, I see my duty most clearly, and I am glad to tell you that my heart and will have not hesitated for a moment in deciding my course."

In the hight of the Ohio inflation mania he stood on this ground:—

"I expect to be overborne by the brute force of votes, but I expect to be vindicated when the people look back from the gulf of financial ruin into which they are hastening and see that I was the true friend of their financial interests. The appeal from Philip drunk to Philip sober is not complimentary to Philip * * * The state convention at Columbus has committed itself to some financial doctrines that, if I understand them, I cannot and will not indorse. If my constituents approve them they cannot approve me."

We are justified in arguing from the past to the future. Between a brilliant soldier, leading a disorganized and hungry party, who must necessarily delay reform by making many immediate changes in the public service; and the man familiar with government, the heir of Hayesism, between a support including with much that is good the mass of irresponsible voters, and one holding the independent republicans, the most advanced, the most progressive, the most trusted forces in all our political organism,—we think the conscientious, unprejudiced voters will generally decide for Garfield The republican president will do nothing to disturb the even course of business prosperity, nor will he throw out of gear the machinery of government.—[Springfield Republican.

Discouraging Honest Industry

The Denver Tribune of yesterday has an alleged interview with the man who writes the political romances for the News. The News reporter was gloomy and considerably disgruntled and when asked the cause handed the Tribune man a memorandum of the work he had done during the campaign. The rest of the story is told as follows by the Tribune: "The Tribune's romancer took a slip of paper which was handed him and read:

Hogus interviews	823
Gorgeous lies	1 216
Medium lies	738
Imbecile lies	2,421
Silly statements	9,521
Total of mendacity	2,827
Total of idiocy	11,959

"What do you suppose I got for all that?" asked the News liar, as the paper was again placed in his hands.

"Haven't any idea"

"I have made the calculation, and I only get one eighth of a cent a lie. What sort of encouragement is that for genius? Just think of it. Periling your immortal soul for one eighth of a cent! Shades of Munchausen protect us? I remember the time when prices were much higher. What do you suppose has forced the decline?"

"I don't know, unless you have overstocked the market?"

"That may be it," said the News romancer gloomily. "I went in too enthusiastically at the first. I might have known that it would hurt trade, but it's hard to check a natural inclination. Good day!"

And he walked up stairs to get from the democratic chairman some material for interviews with prominent republicans."

MOUNT VESUVIUS.

Up the Volcano in a Car—Watching Explosions.

The new road recently made by the company now permits the carriage which brought you from Naples to ascend two miles further This alone would greatly diminish the fatigue of the ascent The road is about two miles long and winds like a knotted white riband over the steep ascent. A liveried officer touches his cap as he issues from a little cabin built at the point where the road begins and asks for your ticket. Travelers who ascend the mountain in their vehicles or in others not belonging to the society, are charged $3 from this point for the use of the road The carriage at last reaches the broad stone platform and elegant building at the base of the cone used as a station and a restaurant

The atmosphere is an exquisite mingling of sea breeze and mountain air, and the view below, when the day is clear, is charming, Sorrento, Castelmare, Capri Naples—all cities whose names recall enchanting natural scenery—lie below in a vast and beautiful panorama The low, one-story house, built to resist earthquakes, is decorated in a Pompeian style. The mosaic pavement at the door greets you with a "salve," and all around on the walls are photographs of Vesuvius You eat breakfast here—roast beef, with a glass of Vesuvian wine the price, of course, being as elevated as the position of the restaurant on the mountain. Water, they told us, was all brought there in barrels on donkeys backs, as none is ever found in the earth there It is ground that has been upheaved unnumbered times, and, even if it were not near the top of the mountain, water could not be expected there.

The car is in two compartments at different levels, and carries up eight persons at each voyage, which occupies nine minutes The heavy oak beams laid up the side of the cone, at an angle of fifty degrees look stout enough to hold the cable wire and the wheels firm on the lapillo of the cone, and giving to the winds all misgivings, you begin the ascent. This rolling up the cone, with a conductor mounted on an elevated seat in front of the car this leaving the world which we have known hitherto so far behind gives a curious sensation of mingled wonder and fear The movement is slow and cautious, as if man feared to tempt the mighty power below, and all this is silent except the creak of the wire over the iron wheel When at last you are landed at the upper station the ascent so far has been made without fatigue and the promises of the society are fulfilled. But a part of the cone is still before you, if you would arrive at the crater, and this ascent is steep and fatiguing The guides hover round each group of travelers here, hoping to find some who, as in former times, will require their aid. Although the walk, which is about fifteen minutes, is fatiguing, it gives only the faintest idea of the difficulty of the former mode of ascension. The only question, at looking back at the cone, is, "How did so many delicate women ever do it?" It used to be considered a matter of course for any traveler who visited Naples to ascend Vesuvius, but even with the aid of the guides it must have been a serious effort. Even those who permitted themselves to be carried up in a chair must have experienced a nervous sensation on finding themselves thus strangely suspended on the shoulders of struggling men between earth and heaven. After this panting ascent we found ourselves near the base of the small cone which has been raised within two years. There is a field of yellow lava here ejected by Vesuvius in the eruption of 1872. By leaping from one rock to another it is possible to go even nearer, but it is not safe to go on the cone on account of the burning stones that are constantly falling over it. By ascending a hill to the right may be seen the fissure in the top of the cone, through which the lava runs in a narrow stream down the side toward Pompeii. But I confess that my courage failed here, and I contented myself with sitting down in the ashes and watching the explosions which frequently occurred. The fine black ashes feel in showers, and the hot sulphurous air burnt my face and discolored the steel ornaments of my dress. Clouds came every few moments to wreathe the cone in darkness, and the frequent explosions shook the ground under foot —[N. Y. Evening Post.

THAT BLESSED BABY.

The Spanish Infanta Goes Through Another Ceremony

Forty days having elapsed since the birth of the Infanta Mercedes, two curious ceremonies took place in the palace Thursday on the occasion of the first appearance in public of Queen Christina. Before ten o'clock this morning crowds of people assembled before the palace, and carriages deposited many ladies wearing black or white mantillas Ministers, generals, and diplomats followed in full uniform Many priests and choristers clustered round the altar which was splendidly lit up, and the Cardinal Patriarch of the Indies and Primate were both ready with a cross borne aloft with the pallium and holy water. They all went to the door of the chapel to await the queen, who appeared, preceded by grandees, gentlemen, lords, and generals all in full court dress.

The queen took the Infanta Mercedes from the arms of her governess, the Duchess of Medina de las Torres, and knelt on a velvet cushion, holding her child, while the Cardinal Patriarch read the gospel of purification over her Then she rose and entered the church, followed by the princess

All were in light blue satin trains and white mantillas Directly after the ceremony the Papal Nuncio arrived at the palace with his suite in state carriages escorted by the royal house guards and troops In the court yard he was received with royal honors The Nuncio was conducted to the throne room by the Lord Chamberlain, and there the cardinal read to the king surrounded by his ministers and courtiers a papal brief in which Leo XIII expressed great sympathy for the sovereign of Spain, and sent his particular blessing on the queen and her infant daughter. The Nuncio, accompanied by the king and his ministers, went to the chamber of the Queen Christina, who was standing with the princesses and her ladies. The Infanta Mercedes was held in the arms of her governess, the Duchess Medina de las Torres. The Nuncio after a short address to the queen opened a splendid alabaster and gold embossed casket containing two magnificent dresses in satin several beautifully embroidered covers for cushions destined for the infanta fifty several precious relics for the queen and also a papal brief and relic for each of the infantas—Isabel Eulalie, and Paz The principal relic, a cross of diamonds was immediately hung around the neck of the infanta Mercedes and ladies in waiting also swathed her in beautiful sashes, embroidered by Roman ladies and blessed by the pope The antechambers were crowded by the nobility and ladies anxious to see the papal presents

A Mormon Sunday School

One would hardly notice at first that he was not in an eastern Sunday school The manner of conducting it was nearly the same, but the second glance showed the faces were not of New England children The Scandinavian, English and Dutch face types were very marked, showing the sources whence came the recruits for the Mormon church While many of the children were bright and pretty there seemed to be a listless air about them which told the story of ignorance, and a servile following of an imposed faith After singing, prayer and the report of the secretary, the school separated into class rooms for the lesson of the day As the superintendent gave me liberty to look around where I pleased, I went first into the theological class.

They were studying from the Mormon Book of Doctrines and Covenants, and the chapter for the day was headed, "Three grand keys by which one may know good and bad spirits revealed to Joseph the Prophet, in Nauvoo, Ill., February 9 1843." The good spirits were said to be of two kinds. (1) Resurrected bodies 2) Spirits of just men made perfect. The grand test was drawn from the words of Jesus, "Handle me and see, for a spirit has no flesh and bones as ye see me have,' and was simply to "shake hands." If a spirit appears to you, just offer to shake hands. If he is of a resurrected body you will feel the flesh and bones, If he is a spirit of a man just made perfect he will not respond to your offer, for such spirits are not allowed to shake hands If he is the devil or one of his angels, he will shake hands with you, but you will feel nothing, for he "has not flesh and bones."

Now this struck me as quite a useful thing to know If a man could detect the presence of Satan by so easy a process as shaking hands with him, it would be worth a good deal, This seemed to be the idea of the leader of the class, for he remarked that this was a very important rule to remember. In the main room several classes were reciting some from the Book of Mormon, some from the Ten Commandments, and some from 1 Corinthians, xvi. The infant class interested me very much. Here in a room by themselves were more than 100 children, all under 12 years of age, under the charge of three gentlemen teachers. As I went in they broke off suddenly from what they were doing and began to sing, which they did very prettily. Their leader then put them through a sort of catechism, evidently for my benefit, and I was glad he did, for it opened up some of the vital points of Mormonism,

When may a Mormon child be baptized?

At eight years of age.

How many of you have been baptized? (About two-thirds of the hands were raised)

What is a child baptized for?

For the remission of sins.

Yes; that is right. There are those who sprinkle little babies and call it baptism.

Have they ever sinned so as to need it?

No, sir.

No, little babies have not sinned, but are pure and innocent. But when they get to be 8 years old they do some little things that are wrong, and need to be baptized to make them pure again.

May a child who has been baptized partake of the sacrament?

Yes, sir.

May a child partake of the sacrament before he is eight years old, and has been baptized?

Yes, sir.

Yes, for then they have no sin.

Do you believe in God?

Yes, sir.

Do you believe he has a body, parts and passion?

Yes, sir.

Yes, God once lived on the earth. He has body, parts and passions just like us He went through all our experience, so he knows how to govern the children of men.

This was the substance of the lesson At the close of the school the sacrament was administered to all who had been baptized and the unbaptized under eight years of age were allowed to partake I asked one of their teachers if all children were baptized when they reached eight years of age, and he replied "If they wish to, and they are all very anxious for it." And well they may be, for they are taught that no unbaptized can be saved [Salt Lake Correspondent of the Congregationalist.

ABE ROBERTS,
Proprietor of Mountaineer,

I will be in attendance at the counting room of the GAZETTE every afternoon, between four and five o'clock, to hear complaints relative to errors or mistakes in the delivery of the paper, to collect and receive subscriptions, and to attend to all business connected with the carrier's department.

HARRY ILES.

Milton Nobles is now entertaining the Denver public with his "Man of the People."

The ladies of the Congregational church will give an entertainment Thanksgiving night.

Miss Nettie Ross and Mr. Gus. A. Frost were married yesterday at Vacaville, Salana county, California

There will be a social in the Congregational church to-night. Admission ten cents and refreshments free. Pilgrims and strangers are especially invited.

Mr. O, Metcalf, of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, has rented the furnished residence belonging to Dr. Sutherland and will remain in Colorado Springs during the winter.

Those who heard Dr. Charles Gatchell's political address at Manitou the other night speak of it in the highest terms. The doctor will speak in Monument to morrow evening.

Mrs Blair wishes to say to the patrons of her school that she will continue to teach at her residence on Pike's Peak avenue. School is now in progress as usual Small children will come in the forenoon, advansed grade to the afternoon session.

Charles A. Cornwall, accused of forging the name of Mr. William Harrison, of this city, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Sherman, of Arapahoe county, in Denver last Tuesday. Sheriff Smith, of this county, has gone to Denver to take charge of the prisoner who will be brought to this county for trial.

There were 721 names of voters registered in election precinct No. 6½, and in election precinct No 6 there were 580, making a total of 1,372 in the two precincts. On next Monday, the day preceding the election, those who have not been registered can have their names recorded by taking two persons known to the registration board to swear to their being legal voters.

Mr. Charles A. Turner has been commissioned colporteur of the American Tract Society for southern Colorado, with headquarters at Colorado Springs for the present. The literature of the Tract Society is undenominational and their colporteur work of great value to any community. We bespeak for Mr. Turner a cordial welcome into the Christian homes of this city.

A ladies' missionary society was organised on Monday by the ladies of the Baptist church, with the following officers:

President Mrs. S. W. Hatch.

Vice President and Treasurer Miss C. H. White.

Secretary Miss Parker.

The regular meetings of the society will occur on the first Saturday afternoon in each month.

Immediately after the supper at Kenney's restaurant on Tuesday night the fire department accepted an invitation to visit Alderman Walker's residence on West Huerfano street where they were right royally entertained. We are informed by those that were there that Charley made the boys at home. Alderman Walker is never backward in coming forward and he, like the rest, thoroughly appreciates a good fire department.

District Court

Judge McMorris was engaged yesterday in the district court in hearing motions No cases of any especial interest were brought up for trial His Honor held a session of court in chambers last evening and listened to motions in a mining litigation

The jury in the case of the People vs. George Hughes charged with a breach of the peace, to which reference was made in the GAZETTE of yesterday, held an all night session and then failed to agree. They reported this condition of affairs to the court yesterday morning and they were discharged by Judge McMorris Hughes was bound over for trial at the next term of court and gave bail for his appearance.

The court adjourned last evening to meet again this morning at 9 o'clock.

Building Notes

Judge Stewart's new residence is progressing.

Mr. S. T. Skinner will build a residence on his lot just above Cimarron street.

Some of the girders for the dome of the opera house were put in position yesterday.

Mr. George W. Thomas will build a residence on the lot recently purchased by him on North Weber street.

There are a number of fine houses to be erected soon the plans of which are now under consideration and reference to which will be made in due time.

Dr. Corry has purchased the lot next to the Hurst property which he recently bought of Captain De Coursey and will make a handsome lawn of the addition.

Mrs. Blaine's residence on Nevada and Platte avenues is being entirely remodeled. It is having a second story added and a southern front put on. The residence will be greatly improved.

Captain De Coursey has sold the lot below Westerfield's block on which the tailor Myers' tent stands to Mr. J. A. Weir for $1,100, Mr. Weir will erect a three story brick building upon the lot.

Personal.

Mr. Russell Gates, of Horse Creek, is attending court.

Mr. J. E Bates, of Denver, is registered at the National

The Rev. H. P. Roberts, of Silverton, is visiting friends in this city.

Col. H. S. Haynes went north on the afternoon express yesterday.

Mr. Thomas Macon, the prominent democratic orator, is in town.

Mr. Aleck Harrence came in from the mountains yesterday morning.

Mr. W. C. Prewitt left for the east yesterday via the Santa Fe route.

Mr. Herman Beckurts, of Denver passed through the city on his way south.

Mr. F. B. Stearns and wife, of New York, are among the recent arrivals at the National.

The Hon. J C Helm and Col. Charles B. Lamborn went south on the Leadville express last evening.

The Rev. E R Wood returned home on the 11 o'clock train last evening from a business trip to the east.

Mrs. O. Metcalf, of Pittsburg, Pa., arrived in the city yesterday morning. She will remain here during the winter.

Mrs. M L De Coursey and family left for Philadelphia yesterday morning where they will remain during the winter.

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Mr. J E Havens, a prominent attorney of Leadville.

Mr. G. F. Whitehead, correspondent of the Denver News, called upon us yesterday. He left for the south on the Leadville express.

Officer Tell arrested Con Calaghan as he was about to step on board the Leadville express last night and escorted him to the jail, It seems that Calaghan was arrested day before yesterday for creating a disturbance in Neff's butcher shop on south Tejon street. He was locked up over night and yesterday morning conducted to Justice Stewart's court for trial. Marshal Beall, who was in charge of him allowed him a little distance and he improved the opportunity to "skip." He was again arrested yesterday afternoon and fined $10 80 by Justice Stewart but being without money he was allowed his liberty upon condition that he would pay it this morning. It was evidently his intention to leave for parts unknown and thereby elude the payment of the fine.

The Wilson coal bank is now open and a good quality of coal is being taken out. Arrangements are being made to establish an office for the sale of this coal in this city and until they are completed the coal can be obtained at the mine.

The Denver and Rio Grande railroad company ordered thirty-two new locomotives from Philadelphia manufacturers yesterday This makes the total number of engines ordered during the year by this company 124.

Messrs. Tribe & Jefferay have just received a large and varied stock of scrap books. The famous Mark Twain scrap book and other styles elegantly bound are kept by this enterprising firm.

The GAZETTE bindery starts out with great success The work has reqnired the employment of four hands from the beginning. The number will soon be increased.

DEDICATING A DEMOCRATIC FLAG.

Speeches by Judge McFerran and Dr Strickler and Music by the Band

The democrats of this city displayed a Hancock and English banner on Tejon street yesterday. The flag was suspended between the People's bank and the City drug store. About half past five o'clock the Colorado Springs band marched down from their headquarters and took up their position in the street under the flag. They struck up a spirited tune and their music soon attracted a good sized crowd who listened with attention and cheered when the band ceased playing.

Judge McFerran took a position in an express wagon and organised the meeting by proposing that John Murphy, esq, act as chairman The motion was carried after which Judge McFerran proceeded to make some remarks appropriate for the occasion. He was greeted with frequent cheers during the progress of his speech. He exhorted the democrats of El Paso county to come forward on the second of November and cast their votes for Hancock and English. In the course of his remarks he touched upon the silver question briefly and concluded with a glowing reference to the banner under which the meeting had assembled.

At the conclusion of Judge McFerran's remarks the band played a selection and then Dr. Strickler was introduced. The doctor was received with applause. He said that it was not his intention to discuss at any length the issues before the people but he did desire to express some thoughts suggested by the flag above him and by the names inscribed upon that flag. The speaker then pronounced a glowing eulogy upon the character of General Winfield Scott Hancock. He reviewed the conduct of General Hancock at Gettysburg and then turning to his civil record spoke enthusiastically of the general's devotion to the civil law.

Dr. Strickler's speech was an eloquent one, though brief, and was received with great applause by the auditors. At the conclusion of his remarks three cheers were given for Hancock and English and the meeting disperced to the music of the band.

Now it is reported that a subterranean cave has been discovered in the Gold Cup mine, Tin Cup district, 800 feet long and 200 feet high. Stalactites, stalagmites and precious mineral abound.

At a meeting of the Denver high school lyceum last week the subject for debate was "Has the negro more cause for complaint in the United States than the Indian?" The negative won,

The Rio Grande railroad is building an iron bridge across Chalk creek, adjoining Nathrop. It will be a fine structure and will take the place of the temporary timber bridge which now spans that stream,

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad has let a contract for sinking four artesian wells between San Marcial and the Jornada. In order to secure a sufficient supply of water while these wells are being sunk the company will have four large tanks built at San Marcial.

The Denver News says concerning the railroad ticket scalpers of that city: "The occupation of the scalpers is gone. No more will be heard in the land the complaints of the foolish, innocent men, and the plaintive wailings of unsuspecting old women Yesterday was the 26th of October, when according to the railway agreements all round trip tickets must have been stamped by the agent at Denver in order to secure their validity on board train. Many of these tickets were presented to Agent Lackner yesterday. They had been apparently held for the last hour by scalpers and others who hoped in the general rush to avoid the eagle eye of the agents. They were anticipated, however, by detective vigilance and seven bogus or worthless tickets were captured Hirschberg, the Larimer street ticket dead beat, got caught for two of them."

The following are the earnings and expenses of the Denver, South Park and Pacific Railroad Company for the fiscal year ending July 31. 1880

Gross earnings	$1,826 924 11
Operating expenses	635,494 08
Net earnings	$1 191 430.03

The annual interest on the total amount of bonds outstanding July 31. 1880, is $126.000. The capital stock outstanding amounts to $3.500 000. These bonds and stock have just been admitted to the regular list of the New York stock exchange.

We glanced over the plans of the new Methodist church yesterday and judging from them the building will be a handsome one and an ornament to the city.

DR C. R BROADBENT
Would respectfully inform his many patients, and the public generally of Colorado Springs, Colo, that he will positively leave next Wednesday at 4 p m. Dr Broadbent invites all Consumptive invalids who may have come to Colorado for the air to cure them, to call and try his Inhaling Balm Vapor free of charge. The doctor cured himself by it thirty-six years ago, even after Dr John Warren of Boston had given him up as incurable in consumption. Inhaling Medicated vapors is the only reliable method of treatment for lung and throat diseases Dr. Broadbent can tell by examination the correct and true state of your lungs and also whether you can be cured or not. He can treat you successfully after an examination, until well, after he leaves here, just as well as if he were to remain here constantly. Scores in this city are now under his special treatment All who wish a candid and true statement of their diseases, and mean business, are invited to call at once. Advice on all diseases are free daily from 10 a. m to 8 p. m, at Colorado Springs Hotel, Room 8 ONE WEEK MORE.
